

I have had an XM radio in my 2002 Cadillac since I bought it and absolutely love it. I have also added XM to my 2003 Lincoln Navigator and use it my house as well.

I simply can't understand why the government regulators have to take exception to something people enjoy. Why not leave well enough alone and deal with issue of much greater significance. I am well aware of the political ramifications, particularly in this election year. Keep the special interest out of the mix and let the public enjoy what they pay for. Standard radio is so full of commericals it isn't even enjoyable anymore. I for one, haven't listened to regular radio since I got the XM system. I do listen to public radion because it too is commercial free.
